

Singers and Wannabe Singers wanted!

We invite you to sing along, join in and sing together some very special songs: we picked out female voices from the past and present of Western pop. For example, there is a Schlager song by Gitte Haenning, a radio pop anthem by Bonny Tyler or an indie track by the Finnish duo Maustetytöt - and many more. The point of the project is not to be a professional or "good" singer. Above all, it is about the joy of singing.

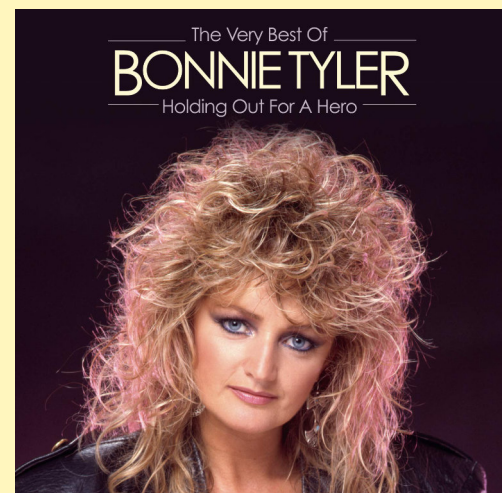

At three workshop sessions, you will get to know the songs and us, the 'band'. In early October, you will then join us on stage at the Mousonturm in Frankfurt as part of a choir-karaoke happening. Ideally, you can attend all sessions - however, please feel free to sign up, even if that is not the case. Voices of all genders and ages are welcome!

Note on accessibility: The rooms at Mousonturm are wheelchair accessible. For more information on accessibility, please visit the Mousonturm website. The Parkside Studios are on the 1st floor; unfortunately, there is no elevator.

About the band: Caroline Creutzburg initiates stage projects and various related interdisciplinary formats. Together with the artist, activist, and former heartrock singer Tanja Krone and Frankfurt Yodel Club member Johanna Milz, she dedicates this project to their personal musical inspirations. They are accompanied by Jacob Bussmann (piano/keyboard), Seongsin Lee (guitar, bass), and Špela Mastnak (drums).
